Here is the one source glass collectors and dealers have been waiting for--an all-in-one resource which identifies over 4,000 patterns of crystal stemware of the twentieth century. Replacements Ltd., the world's largest china, silver, and crystal matching service, has inventoried and compiled these patterns to help everyone identify their favorite patterns, their grandmother's or even their own wedding crystal. The most extensive stemware guide ever published, this is an ideal reference guide for the thousands of glass dealers across the country who search for the many patterns of etched, plain, blown, or molded designs. The large, detailed image featured for each pattern is either a photo, line drawing, or original company illustration. While not a comprehensive pattern guide on any one manufacturer, it represents a vast majority of some of the most collectible and requested stemware patterns of yesterday and today. This book, despite its large format, is easy to use making it the standard reference in the field. 8.5 X 11.
