Paul declares ...be not conformed to this world, but be ye transformed [how?] by the renewing of your mind... (Romans 12:2) This is our Biblical injunction from the Lord. The question is: How do we do it? What is the practical application of taking every thought captive, renewing our minds and putting on the Mind of Christ? In this sequel to The Way of Agape, Nancy shares that, without a renewed mind, our lives will remain the same as they've always been, no matter what we do or try. No matter how many Bible studies we attend, no matter how many Scriptures we know or how much we pray, without a mind change, our lives will still have the same problems, the same failures and the same defeats as they always have. The battle is truly waged in our minds!-----

-----Be Ye Transformed is a must-read for anyone who wants to see a positive change in their Christian walk. It not only teaches us how to take every thought captive, renew our minds and put on the Mind of Christ, it also contains an expansion of Nancy's original model of the human personality (i.e., the hidden chambers), which she meticulously crafted from the Scriptural pattern of Solomon's Temple. Practical, field-tested examples from years of ministry makes Be Ye Transformed a classic Christian work. William P. Welty, M. Div. Black Women's Risk for HIV, An inside look at the devastating impact of the HIV/AIDS epidemic on poor African American women Black Women's Risk for HIV: Rough Living is a valuable look into the structural and behavioral factors in high-risk environments—specifically inner-city neighborhoods like the "Rough" in Atlanta—that place black women in danger of HIV infection. Using black feminism to deconstruct the meaning and significance of race, class, and gender, this text gives a voice to a unique disenfranchised population and legitimizes their lives and experiences. This important ethnographic study focuses not only on the problems associated with the continued rise in HIV rates among African American women, but provides viable solutions to these problems as well. As we move into the 21st century, unsafe heterosexual contact has become a common route of HIV infection and an overwhelming majority of those infected are women. More and more, these are women of color who reside in poor inner-city neighborhoods. Black Women's Risk for HIV: Rough Living uses ethnographic methods to define and break down the social, economic, and political factors directly affecting women in high-risk environments. An informative and compassionate rendering of a growing problem, this text offers an inside look at the devastating impact of the HIV/AIDS epidemic on poor African American women and works to link these women's individual circumstances to the larger social context. Some topics Black Women's Risk for HIV: Rough Living explores in-depth are: the 20-year change in the Rough—in inner-city Atlanta—from a middle-class African American neighborhood to a high-risk hub of chronic drug users and sellers the history and implementation of the Health Intervention Project (HIP) in the Rough theoretical frameworks that shape the analysis of the impact of this neighborhood as a on the lives of women at high-risk for contracting HIV women's living arrangements in the Rough and their relation to the structural constraints that place them at risk a living-arrangement-based categorization of women in the Rough—street women and house women—and the defining characteristics of each family relations and the personal histories of women as influential factors women's intimate partner relationships and motivation for condom use in those relationships mother-
