This is a biography of one of the West's most iconic individuals: Warner Glenn is a descendant of pioneers, a successful cattle rancher, and world-renowned lion hunter. The book was written using countless hours of voice recordings, old scrapbooks, and old newspaper articles. It has true tales of lion and bear hunts, cattle ranching in the arid Southwest, tracking outlaws across the desert, famous horses, and rodeo cowboys, hunting in Mexico, and history. It contains over one hundred rare photographs and a foreword by Baxter Black. Hardback with a dust jacket.

Voices of the American West. This documentary-style collection of photographs and narratives profiles a wide range of prominent figures of the West as they engage in candid discussions about the region and its identity. A diverse group of visionary men and women, they may differ in politics but remain united in their belief that the West requires inspired action if it is going to endure challenges posed by political, cultural, and environmental pressures. Allowing those on each side of the issues to speak freely, this important work tackles such topics as education, recreation, immigration, ranching, alternative energy, wildlife habitat protection, oil and gas extraction, urban development, and water conservation. Exemplifying photography and journalism at its best, the book provides a panoramic view of today's evolving West. The collection features Terry Tempest Williams, Stewart Udall, Katie Lee, Dave Foreman, and many others.
